

I think that BPL systems can not operate under the part 15 rules. I feel that the FCC should not allow BPL systems until it can be proven that BPL systems can operate without violating the part 15 rules. As most "end users" do not understand the part 15 rules, this places an unnecesassry burden on the licenced users of the effected bands in which BPL systems could effect. I strongly urge the fcc to not allow BPL systems to operate until they can be made to fit within the part 15 rules
